MEDICS MEET IN BOSTON TODAY

Reports Show No Hospitals in 56% Of U. S. Counties

77TH ANNUAL SESSION

Number Studying Medicine Now On Marked Decrease

BOSTON — (By Associated Press) — Boston is the medical center of the United States today. The 72nd annual session of the American Medical Association, the national organization of the medical profession, opened here this morning. The House of Delegates, the legislative body of the association, met at 10 a. m. and was called to order by Dr. Dwight L. Murray of Syracuse, New York, the speaker of the house.

Dr. Alexander R. Craig of Chicago, the secretary of the association, stated in his report that the membership of the association on May 1, 1921, was 84,971.

The council on Health and Public Instruction reported that during the past year definite progress had been made in the coordination of voluntary public health activities, as shown by the organization of the National Health Council made up of representatives from the ten leading national public health organizations, that the Model Bill for the Registration of Births and Deaths had been adopted during the past year in Iowa and West Virginia, leaving only three states, Arizona, South Dakota and Nevada still to adopt the measure in order to have uniform vital statistics registration throughout the nation.

SPECIAL WARDS FOR T. B. PATIENTS

The council presented a report from the United States Public Health Service recommending that General Hospitals in all parts of the country should provide separate wards or rooms for the care of tuberculous patients and that such patients should not be denied admittance into general hospitals, at least in emergency and for temporary periods, on account of the character of the disease from which they are suffering. The council recommended that the nature and transmission of communicable diseases should be taught in the public schools as is now required in five states; that teachers in the public schools should be required to know something about communicable diseases and their control; that the American Medical Association should support local practitioners by supplying them with properly equipped laboratories and hospitals for the treatment of their patients.

MEDICAL EDUCATION STANDARDIZED

The council on Medical Education and Hospitals reported that the work undertaken in 1915 of formulating and securing uniform standards of medical education in the United States has in a large part been completed and that greater advance has been made in medical education during the past 15 years than in any other field of education in the country. The council believes that in order to preserve the general practitioner and family doctor, the undergraduate medical course must be thoroughly reorganized and attention given to the training of the general practitioner. At the same time a better method of instruction for specialists should be developed in post graduate courses.

Regarding the hospital situation, the report of the Council shows that there are no hospitals in 56 per cent of the counties in the United States, that there are 4013 private, general and special hospitals for the treatment and care of the sick with a total of 311,154 beds, or 1 hospital bed for every 240 persons in the United States. The distribution ranges from 1 hospital in every 43 square miles in Massachusetts to 1 in every 7780 square miles in Nevada, the distribution by population varied from 1 hospital bed to every 1034 in Mississippi to 1 hospital bed for every 129 persons in Nevada.

ONLY 84 MEDICAL COLLEGES

Regarding medical colleges, instead of 162 medical schools as was the case in 1906 there are now only 84. The total number of medical students has diminished from 28,142 to 14,850 this year.

The House of Delegates will be in session today and tomorrow. Tomorrow evening the President-elect, Hon. Hubert Work, M. D. First Assistant Post Master General, will be installed.

The Scientific Sections will begin their meetings on Wednesday morning, continuing Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

KELLOGG PRODUCTS CO. MAKES "CANDY KIDS" OF LIMA FIRE FIGHTERS

If any member of the Lima fire department has a sweet tooth, he should have little difficulty in getting it filled now.

In appreciation of their efforts at the recent Kellogg Sugar Products Co. fire the firemen were presented with 100 pounds of chocolate candy by the company.

The candy was divided among the members of the six stations.

"Gee," said John Burroughs, driver for Chief Mack, "with all this candy around here I think it's Christmas. We'll have to keep an eye on Tommy Jordan tho, 'cause he might want to go in the candy business."

CANDIDATES FOR JOBS OF POLITICAL TENDER ARE COMING OUT SLOWLY

Filing of one petition, that of Isadore Fogelm, candidate on the Republican ticket, for member of the board of education in Delphos, was the only break in the solemnity of office of the board of elections Monday.

A number of prospective candidates for nomination as constable in Ottawa-tp, have called at the office to make inquiries. Several of them are circulating petitions, but none have filed.

Nominations for constable, assessor, members of school board and justice of peace, will not go beyond, however, according to A. J. Morris, clerk of the board. He anticipates a rush of candidates for births on both Republican and Democratic tickets, commencing Wednesday or Thursday and lasting until time limit for filing expires on June 9.

PAYMENT ON LIMA BOND DELAYED

Owner in Germany Loses Five Years Interest, Account War

After being a subject of international negotiation prior to America's entry into the war and resting in a German strong-box for nearly five years after maturity, waterworks bond No. 249, of series C, issued in 1918, reached the office of City Auditor David L. Rupert for payment Monday. Its denomination is $1,000.

The bond is part of an issue of $156,000 authorized by council in 1914 and sold in 1915. They were sold to yield 5 per cent, maturing April 1, 1919.

When the securities came due, bond No. 249 was held by a bank in Germany. The war was on and it could not be sent to the United States for collection. Correspondence ensued, between the city and the German bank, but letters had to come round thru Norway, pass thru the British War office, where they were covered, and it took a long time for them to come and go.

The German owners needed the cash badly it is believed, and tried every way possible to secure payment. Finally payment was arranged. Ambassador Gerard was to pay over the money and take the bond. The city was then to take up the bond and pay for it.

Everything was ready, when Gerard was called home by outbreak of the war. Holders in Germany lose five years interest.

WILLIS STANDING BY STAUFFER

U. S. Senator Won't Switch in Favor of Lima Man

WASHINGTON — George Stauffer of Ottawa and Thomas L. Edwards of Lima, candidates for appointment as federal revenue collector of Toledo, are here sizing up the situation.

They met Friday in the office of Senator Willis, who previously knowing of the other's presence in the city.

Stauffer has been endorsed by Willis and is confident of landing the $7,000 job now held by Frank B. Niles.

Edwards is now being endorsed by Charles H. Nauts of Toledo for the appointment, but got into the race for himself when there appeared to be a deadlock between Nauts and Stauffer.

In talking with Ohioans here, Edwards still professes to be for Nauts first and for himself only in the event that Nauts can't win. He shook hands with President Harding at the White House Friday, but did not talk patronage.

Edwards called at Willis' office just as Stauffer was leaving. Each greeted and greeted the other cordially.

Willis told Edwards he was committed to Stauffer and had no idea of switching to a compromise candidate.

FIRST MEETING OF GOOD ROADS COUNCIL

Initial meeting of the Allen County Good roads council at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium Monday afternoon will mark the beginning of a new era in improvement of highways in the county.

Hitherto, improvement of roads has gone forward by piecemeal, as agencies engaged in that line of endeavor have been playing a lone hand, each striving to get something for their section, to the exclusion of others.

Organization of the council, it is believed, will result in adoption of a definite road program for the county, backed by the council.

Not only do members of the board of county commissioners belong, but the president of every board of township trustees and representative citizens are included.

The council, will become a powerful agency thru which the county can act in obtaining a just share of the state and federal road aid funds, distributed in Ohio.

In past years a great deal of money to which the county has been entitled has gone elsewhere because there was no representative organization for presenting the county's claims.

MRS. DIBERT CHARGES HUSBAND WITH NAGGING

That he is a nagging husband is charged against Charles Dibert, 534 S. Main-st, in a suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Coia A. Dibert, Monday.

Mrs. Dibert says her husband is possessed of an unchangeable temper and has made life unbearable for her.

The couple were married in Weston on March 10, 1909. They have no children.

LEGION'S LOBBY INFLUENTIAL

Ex-Soldier Organizations Have Power With State Colonies

PATRIOTIC BILLS PASS

"Americanization" Subject of Mass of Legislation

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — The power of the American Legion and of other ex-soldier organizations, has made itself felt in the form of legislative action in nearly every state in the middle west. Thirteen states report such action.

Entirely aside from the bonus measures which have been carried in several states, a host of other legislation bearing on a mass of diverse subjects has emerged from the legislative halls under the banner of the various ex-soldier organizations. Some of this legislation has been devoted solely to the interest of the men themselves, some of it has had a semi-public interest, some of it has been devoted wholly to the interest of the public.

Americanization has been the subject of a deal of legislation which the ex-soldiers have sponsored. North Dakota recently passed a law making American citizenship a prerequisite to employment as teacher in the public schools. Nebraska now forbids the teaching of a foreign language in her grade schools, and her lower house has gone on record opposing the ownership of land by Japanese. In Missouri the American flag must fly from all school houses and in Oklahoma it must be displayed in all schoolrooms.

Teaching of history and government is now compulsory in the grade schools of Oklahoma. Falsely claiming membership in the American Legion, or the unwarranted use of its insignia, is a misdemeanor in North Dakota.

Armistice Day is now a legal holiday in North Dakota, Nebraska and Missouri.

Preferential appointment to state positions is vouchsafed to ex-servicemen in Missouri, other things being equal; however, the constitutionality of this law is questioned in several quarters on the ground that it is alleged to restrict the appointing power of a state official. In Indiana a recent enactment provides for a volunteer of veterans to the board of trustees of the soldiers' home and the soldiers and sailors orphans' home.

Illinois has several bills of the kind pending. One which has passed the senate would permit only orphans of world war veterans to be admitted to the soldiers' orphans' home at Normal, Ill., at the same time readjusting the home to the veterans. Another bill before the Illinois solons authorizes the levying of a 2 mill tax to form a burial fund for ex-servicemen, their widows and mothers. Still another bill would appropriate $500,000 for a hospital for disabled veterans. A fourth memorial statue costing $25,000 to the mothers of the ex-servicemen.

PROPERTY LOSS IN ARMORY ROBBERY IS IN EXCESS OF $3,000

Enough army equipment was stolen from the armory of troop E, First Ohio cavalry, located on the third floor of the Maus PIANO building, last Thursday night, to start a revolution in Mexico.

Official check of the missing equipment shows that 45 automatics valued at $25 each were taken, three rifles valued at $55 each, 52 blankets valued at $5 each, a large number of cotton and wool breeches valued from $1.50 to $2.50 each, 20 pairs of shoes, three saddles valued at $20 each, three bridles worth $8 each, 20 pistol holsters, six whistles and a large quantity of ammunition was stolen.

Colonel H. C. Horner, assistant adjutant general and Colonel Shetter, of the adjutant general's office, both of Columbus, were here to make the check and were assisted by the local officers of the troop.

It is believed that the robbery was the work of an organized gang of the white rob armories and government warehouses and then sell the equipment to army stores throughout the country, or that the work was done by yegmen.

STUERNAGLES AIR THEIR TROUBLES

Monroe-tp Divorce Hearing Draws Many Spectators

Monroe-tp residents took a day off Monday and came to Lima to hear the contested divorce action of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Stuernagle. The court house was packed as in a murder trial and many were standing.

Stuernagle is seeking a decree from his wife on the witness stand he told he started his married life by wrestling a gun and a rifle from his wife when she threatened to kill him and that she then secured a butcher knife and threatened to end his life, her own and that of Stuernagle's mother.

Stuernagle declared he had lived under such circumstances for the past 13 years of his married life. He declared that to his neighbors and friends and his lodge members his wife circulated a report he was insane and told them he would bear watching.

Mrs. Stuernagle, in testifying, declared that she "called" Stuernagle when she thought he was taking too much interest in a nurse who had been called into their home early in the spring to care for an orphan girl, whom the Stuernagles feared.

Mrs. Stuernagle said her husband was not as happy as when he accompanied another man and the nurse and herself to a party and that he seemed years younger. She charged him with being "green" around the nurse and said she told the nurse she must overlook his condition.

On the witness stand she explained she had purchased an automobile of her own, when her husband refused to allow her to drive his five-passenger car. "And I haven't had a day's pleasure with it since," she testified. "The farthest Henry ever allowed me to ride in his car was on a trip to Spencerville. At that time he had his brother William and Myrtle German with us," Mrs. Stuernagle declared.

She told of various kinds of farm work she did in the fields and how she sold poultry and dairy products and bought her husband clothes to wear.

Testimony indicated most of her trouble grew out of Stuernagle's refusal to allow his wife's name to be included in the title to their 50-acre farm in Monroe-tp.

His wife declared her husband never bought her a pair of shoes during their married life.

The two have been living, since the action was started several months ago, on their farm in Monroe-tp. Mrs. Stuernagle said she prepared breakfast as usual Monday morning and that both ate at the same table.

Judge H. W. Blachly, of Van Wert, is hearing the trial.

ATTACK ON POLICE IS PROBED

43 Members of Lick Creek Colony Arrested

OFFER NO RESISTANCE

Trouble Feared From Striking Tent Colony

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. — (By United Press) — Investigation into the attack Saturday night on an automobile driven by two members of the state police, was started here today.

Forty-three members of the Lick Creek tent colony are under arrest pending the investigation.

Two members of the state police were returning from this city to their station at Spring Lake Saturday night. Riding with them was a woman and small child. Seventy-five shots were fired at the car, several bullets hitting the automobile. The officers returned the fire.

The officers in their report of the attack stated that the shots all came from the Lick Creek tent colony where striking miners are quartered.

Of the state police, acting under orders of Major Davis, acting general enforcing the martial law proclamation, raided the tent colony, arresting 43 men. The raid was conducted by 15 members of the regular state police and a like number of the newly-organized citizen state police. Not a shot was fired and the arrests were made without resistance on the part of members of the tent colony.

Lookouts posted on this side of the river near the town of Murrinac report considerable activity in the striking tent colony in Kentucky. It is feared that trouble may break out there again, as the national guardsmen have been withdrawn.

STILLMAN CASE TO REOPEN TUESDAY

Steps Taken to Inject Names of Nine Women

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — Steps were taken today to inject the names of nine new women into the Stillman divorce case.

It was reported that application will be made to Justice Morschauser for permission to amend the answer of Mrs. James A. Stillman to the complaint of her banker husband, so that it will include the names of nine women besides Mrs. Florence Lawlor Leeds.

The shift in Mrs. Stillman's legal forces which moved John F. Brennan of Yonkers into the position of chief counsel, was expected by her friends to inject "new vitality" into the case for the defense.

Mrs. Stillman selected Brennan, it was said, because he sympathized with her determination to see the fight with her husband to a finish.

The secret hearings before Referee Glendon at Poughkeepsie, were scheduled to be resumed tomorrow. Brennan was in conference with Mrs. Stillman today, planning the first moves in the campaign when the battle reopens.

Mrs. Stillman was practically recovered today from the severe cold with which she has been confined to her bed for the past week. It was said at her residence that she would attend the hearings in Poughkeepsie when they were resumed tomorrow.

MOWERY TO SERVE PRISON TERM

Taken Monday As a Violator of Mansfield Parole

Harold Mowery, former attaché of the county auditor's office, and former secretary of Lima Lodge, No. 199, L. O. O. M., who was convicted of embezzling funds belonging to the Moose lodge, must serve his 13 months in the Mansfield reformatory. Mowery was arrested here Monday morning upon instructions from the reformatory. He will be taken to that institution to begin his sentence immediately, police say.

At the time Mowery was sentenced to the reformatory, he was convicted to embezzling $2,747.34 of the lodge's money. He was paroled from the penal institution. The parole was to be effective as long as Mowery continued on good behavior.

Last November, Mowery, who conducts a restaurant on S. Main-st, was sentenced on charges of bootlegging. He was dismissed of this charge in police court. About three weeks ago he was again arrested on a bootlegging charge. When arraigned in police court he pleaded guilty and was fined $1,000.

It was immediately following this that officials at Mansfield started action.

Members of the East Side Welfare association will give a benefit dance and card party for the wives and friends Tuesday evening at the Lincoln Park House. All residents of the east side are welcome.

Day Nursery Board will meet at the Nursery Tuesday at 10 a. m.

TRY THESE

To Be Rid of Rats and Mice—Use red pepper and lard. Make a paste of it, spread around holes and where they walk. They will not come that way but once; spread thickly; it will last a long time.

To Be Rid of Moths—Sponge the clothes with gasoline, put away damp. Sprinkling chloride lime on the floors of closets is also good to keep them out.

To Restore Curdled Mayonnaise—Place about four large tablespoons of plain melted butter, which must be quite cold, in a round bottom basin and gradually work in the curdled mayonnaise, when it will return to its proper consistency.

To Paste Labels on Cans—Use a narrow strip of adhesive plaster; place on edge of label, will stick securely to paper, tin or glass.

Dried Lemon Peel—Dried lemon peel cut into small pieces with the messors is good in fruit cake.

Delicious Onions—If fond of onions, try peeling and boiling them until tender, then draining and serving with a rich cream sauce.

Cheering Cream makes splendid gravy, melting over fire. You can mend window panes with better results than with putty also mends wood and knobs on dressers.

To Clean Organdie Dress—Use soap flakes according to directions on box. Melt flakes in a little hot water. Use water just lukewarm for washing the dress. Rinse in cold water twice. In the third water add a handful of powdered borax. Put on ironing board and press gently under a cloth to take the water out, then iron. Will look like new.

Instead of Using Starch for curtains or other sheer material, add a teaspoonful of borax to each gallon of water in rinsing. They will hang beautifully and will not have cloudy appearance.

A Good, Quick frosting for a Cake—Use ten cents' worth of chocolate drops melted with a tablespoon of milk. Spread between layers and on top.

To Remove Ink Stains—When ink is spilled on a tablecloth, melt a candle immediately, take some of the tallow and spread it over the stain. Let the tallow dry. All signs of stain will disappear. When the cloth is washed.

FIRST FALL FROCK MAKES BOW HERE

By ELOISE

I haven't yet bought my summer frocks and I am sure that there are many others who have also procrastinated and so, just to hurry things up a little I am going to show you the very first fall frock of the fall season. Of course, I have seen all of the new fall styles and I know all the secrets of next season's coats and suits, but it is far too early to tell anybody but the modistes. Just take one peep at a new fall frock and there you must be content to learn more about late summer styles.

This is a smart street frock of navy tricotine. It has a full skirt with a scalloped hem trimmed with rows of deep embroidery. A Peter Pan collar and a vest of surt-du-vetyn trim the plain blouse. The sleeves are short and the narrow belt is placed rather low. The full skirt, short sleeves and low belt are some of the salient features of the advance fall styles.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Ruth Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Marshall, Columbus to Kyle E. Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Townsend, W. Spring-st. Both are students at Ohio State university.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Johns, S. McDonel-st., motored to Columbus Monday and will return to this city the middle of the week accompanied by their son, Richard, a student at Ohio state university.

Mrs. E. Linn, W. North-st. is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. Lee Carters, Sandusky.

Leo Callahan returned to Chicago after visiting his brothers and sisters. N. West-st. for several weeks.

Mentor club will meet with Mrs. E. B. Smith, 1211 Brice-ave, Tuesday afternoon.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Corameal Muffins—Three-quarters cup corn meal, one and one-half cups cups wheat flour, one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar or syrup, one cup milk, two tablespoons shortening.

Sift dry ingredients into bowl; add milk and melted shortening and syrup if used and beat well. Bake in greased muffin tins in hot oven about twenty minutes.

Goulash—One and one-quarter pounds of beef, one-quarter pound of butter or good drippings, one big onion, four good-sized potatoes, seasoning, one good cup of cream.

Cut beef in dice, dredge well with flour, fry brown in butter, out in the onion, add water and season well. Stew until done, add the potato cut in dice; when this is done, thicken with the cup of cream and a little flour. This will serve five people.

Brown Bread—Two and one-half cups corn meal, one cup cornstarch, one-half cup flour, one-half cup rye meal, salt to taste, one cup corn syrup, three and one-half cups sour milk.

Stir dry ingredients until well mixed, add the syrup, stir in sour milk, mix well. Steam four hours.

Sponge Cake—Beat three eggs with beater until very light, until bubbles are very tiny. Add one and one-half cups sugar (beat again); pinch of salt and flavoring (almond is very good); one-half cup cold water; one and one-half cups sifted flour, two teaspoons of baking powder.

Bake very slowly about an hour, lighting oven after cake is in.

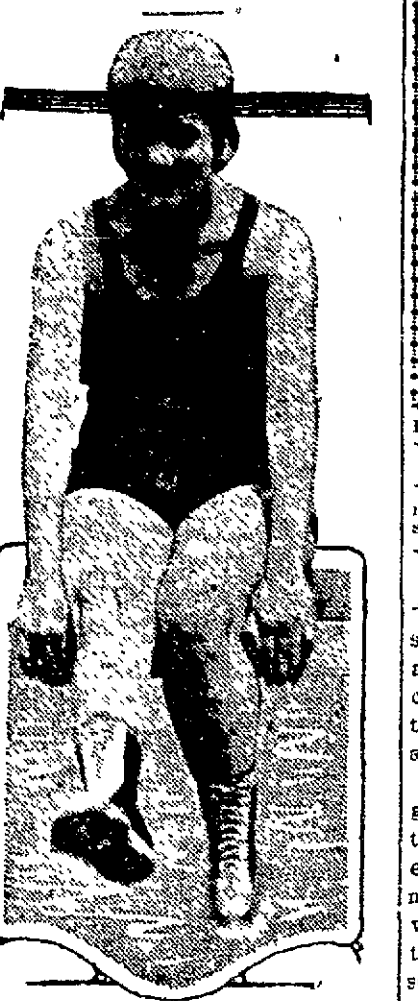

The beauty of this particular recipe is its simplicity of combination, and yet it is spoken of very highly as a very good sponge cake. This can be baked in an angel food cake tin, small muffin pans or in square layers and cut in squares.

A good dessert can be made, when baked in latter tin, by putting a ice cream between layers of cake, and a hot or cold chocolate sauce over it.

Muffins—Scald a generous cupful of milk, pour on half a cupful of cornmeal and let stand for eight minutes, then add half a cup of cooked rice and half a cup of flour, mixed with three, teaspoons of baking powder, two tablespoons of sugar and half a teaspoon of salt; beat the yolk and white of one egg separately and add the former to the batter with one tablespoon of melted shortening and fold in the stiffly whipped egg white. Pour into oiled muffin pans and bake in a quick oven.

Fruit Sherbet—Boil together for ten minutes a cup each of water and sugar and pour boiling hot water over three tablespoons of chopped seeded raisins; cool and add one cup of fruit syrup, drained from any canned or stewed fruit, half a cup of orange juice and one tablespoon of lemon juice; turn into a chilled freezer and when it begins to congeal add the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs. Continue to freeze until firm and smooth and serve in sherbet glasses.

FIVE POUNDS STERLING TO BE PRICE OF WIFE IN AFRICAN JUNGLE TRIBE

LONDON—Five pounds sterling, and no more, is to be the price of a wife, according to a recently ratified convention between the governments of Great Britain and Liberia. This convention regulates the relations between the tribes living on the border line between Liberia and Sierra Leone.

Women's rights are to be recognized, even in the West African jungle, for it is expressly provided in the convention that no claim can be made in respect of a woman except by her husband and that no woman can be compelled to return to a claimant against her will.

ENGAGEMENT ONLY A JOKE

Strange Sense of Humor Exhibited by Girl.

Disappointed Lover Advised to Make the Best of a Bad Situation.

"Betty" Asks Advice in Purchase of Present for Her Friend.

Dear Miss Smart:—I AM a young man 22 years old and have been engaged to a girl for several weeks; or at least, I thought I was. The other evening she politely informed me that she had never meant to become engaged. DISCOURAGED

DON'T FEEL discouraged. If you don't succeed at first, try again.

If, as the girl says, she was only joking when she accepted your proposal, certainly she has a mistaken sense of humor, especially since she has permitted you to think that she was sincere and serious in her acceptance. It is very unwise to make a jest of the subject of marriage and certainly very discourteous and unkind to intentionally lead a man to think his proposal is favorably received and then later tell him that the acceptance was intended only as a joke.

Perhaps, tho, there is another side to the affair. It may be that the girl was sincere in her acceptance, but that something has come up since then to change her decision. Probably she has resorted to this means to escape an embarrassing or awkward situation and does not realize how much it hurts you. The only thing for you to do is to talk the matter over with her and come to a definite understanding. Probably, she still wishes to hold your friendship, but now realizes that she would prefer to wait for several years before becoming serious.

Dear Miss Smart:—(1) Will you kindly advise me what to do for a wedding out on the face of the bride? (2) What to use on the hair when it falls out and breaks off in nine ends?

MISS BOBBY

(1) Try the following remedy: "Miss Bobby" and perhaps you will notice an improvement: One ounce of tincture of green soap and 50 drops of peroxide of hydrogen. Mix and apply with absorbent cotton, rubbing in thoroughly. Let it remain on the face half an hour and then rinse off with cold water. Repeat four times a day. (2) Keep the scalp clean and in good condition by washing the hair once a week with a good quality tar or sulphur soap. Massage the scalp gently with the tips of the fingers and rub vaseline into it once or twice a week. This will stimulate the growth of the hair. Brush the hair each night, giving it from 50 to 100 firm but gentle strokes.

Dear Miss Smart:—My girl whom will graduate from school, would you kindly suggest a nice and appropriate gift for her?

BETTY

Perhaps you will hear your friend express her wish for something which would be suitable for you to give her on this occasion. If not any of the following would be very suitable and appropriate: A parasol or umbrella, fan, dainty scarf, pretty accessory for desk or dressing table or a picture from in silver or ivory.

JAILED FOR MUTILATING PICTURE OF HUSBAND

ST. MARY'S.—Elvin Hume and his wife Nina have been living apart. Hume enlisted police aid in securing from his wife's parents' home a large picture of himself. It was delivered wrapped up. When the covering was found that the picture had been mutilated with a sharp instrument. Miss Hume was arrested Saturday, fined 10 by Mayor Haudabaugh and sentenced to the county jail for 15 days.

SQUIRREL INVADERS POSTOFFICE

ST. MARY'S.—Uncle Sam transports live animals via the postal service, but he insists that they be properly crated. A chipmunk, a species of the squirrel family, didn't know the rules when it ran into the postoffice here Saturday to escape a house dog in pursuit and sought refuge under the log of Henry Horch's trousers. Horch, freed of the scarily unwelcome visitor, permitted the dog to do its worst.

THE PUEBLO DISASTER

NOT since the central and eastern part of Ohio was inundated in March of 1913, has this country witnessed such widespread and terrible havoc wrought by the elements as was visited on the Pueblo district in Colorado Friday night and Saturday.

Two rivers, the Arkansas and the Fountain, useful in ordinary seasons and fulfilling their mission of taking up excessive rainfall at any time, were unequal to the task imposed upon them when a cloudburst was experienced. Leaping from the confines of the river channels and rushing madly onward, a veritable wall of destruction, the water swept everything before it. The damage occasioned to the peerless city of Colorado cannot be estimated and the loss of human life is appalling.

This is not the first time such a calamity has befallen Pueblo and the adjoining territory, but on previous occasions the rise of water was gradual and the condition was not attended by such terrible loss of life and property. Pueblans knew the danger that threatened them in a time of excessive rainfall, but many of them did the same as Ohioans in the 1913 flood. They refused to heed warnings. Many paid the penalty with their lives.

The first cloudburst covered Pueblo with several feet of water. As the flood was receding, another and more violent visitation of rain came. It was then that a wall of water rushed over the territory, bringing death and destruction on a wholesale scale. For hours there was no news of the disaster reaching the outside world. All communication was shut off. As the details came thru, a feeling of horror was experienced. Relief agencies were set in motion and a nation rallied to the aid of the stricken. As usual, the Red Cross was first there. The American purse is already being opened generously. The cry for succor is being heeded.

YEGGS AGAIN

THERE is probably little doubt but that the commission of a robbery at Troop E armory Thursday night was the work of professional bandits, of the McGann-Townsend type, run to earth here recently.

The fact that the loot taken by the robbers consisted mainly of revolvers and rifles indicates pretty conclusively that yeggmen did the work. They need guns in their nefarious vocation, as weapons of offense and defense.

A large number of blankets taken indicates that professional bank robbers and hold-ups did the job. Blankets are needed to deaden the sound of an explosion when a safe is cracked, or to darken the windows of a bank building when cracksmen are at work.

"GOING TO EUROPE"

FRENCH profiteers probably chortle with glee over the announcement that it is estimated 300,000 American tourists will visit that country this summer. They see fine pickings, when the stream starts across the broad Atlantic. In fact, the stream has started and the work of taking financial toll has begun.

Since the war, Europe is more than ever a scenic wonderland. Many thousands want to see the terrible effects of the late war. The steamship lines and the French and German hotels are booked to capacity up to September. Many who are still in the process of making up their minds to go across will likely have to put it off another year.

Germany is going after the tourist business hard. The German hotels are making unusually attractive rates and it is stated that prices generally in Germany will be low, in order to retain the friendship of the tourist.

This provides an opening for a philosophical dissertation or at least a temptation to indulge in a homily. However, no plan has ever been devised that would prevent people from spending their money when they are so inclined. If the American of means desires to spend his money in sight-seeing abroad instead of seeing America first, there is nothing to be done about it.

NATIONAL ANTHEM

ONE more effort is being made to make "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem, by enactment of law. Congressman Linthicum of Maryland is the author of a bill to that end in Congress.

National anthems, like city slogans, nicknames for base ball teams and the popularity of songs, are not matters for legislation. They just happen, no one knows how. No act of the French assembly was required to make Rouget de Lisle's immortal "Marseillaise" the French national anthem. And the same is true of Key's verses. "The Star Spangled Banner" is the national anthem, recognized officially by the army and navy. It is the song that makes people jump to their feet in wartime or in peace.

When a song that is as difficult to sing as "The Star Spangled Banner" attains a respect such as this without legislative act, such a decree would seem to be a work unnecessary. Regardless of the will of congress we will continue to join in the singing of the song so difficult of rendition whenever the occasion affords, despite that high note on "free" just before the last line of the verse.

And very few people know the song in its entirety, but we all love it and hats rightly come off when it is sung or played, while all stand as an evidence of respect. We couldn't love it more if Congress did by official decree make it the national anthem.

RECORD OF ONE DAY

By DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON.

IN the years of his active life he had read widely and bought many books. He valued them highly.

When he died the members of his family selected such books as they cared for, but the bulk remained.

A dealer in second-hand books was sent for.

He offered $10 for the lot.

"There are some expensive medical books."

"They go to the paper mill."

"What about the scientific treatises?"

"They are valuable only as showing what men once thought."

This was surprising information.

But it was correct.

The only thing of permanent value in that collection was that which gave the history of one day.

Life has to be lived by the day. One of the most important things to learn about it is the value in it of one day, and the importance of making its history creditable.

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

JONATHAN JONES AND REFORM

Jonathan Jones was a serious man. Were such that the grocer had marked him "slow pay." And Jonathan's wife and his children were sad. For the want of the joys which they ought to have had.

He'd sit up at night reading ponderous books. And talk all the day, with the gravest of looks. On his visage regarding the duties of men. And the laws we should write, and he'd say to us then. That if only the world would adopt his great plan. There'd be nothing but peace and contentment for man.

To better the world, that was Jonathan's dream, And seldom a day but he had a new scheme. Yet Jonathan's garden was running to weeds, And never at Springtime he planted new seeds; And Jonathan's house was a tumble-down thing, But Jonathan never bought paint in the Spring. And Jonathan's methods, it grieves me to say,

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.
AUTOMOBIOGRAPHY.
Chap. 12—Hygiene and Table Manners.

My dad has always drawn a sharp line between table manners and affections. He says some of the affections that pass as table manners in some quarters remind him of a dear old mad school teacher who used to use her little finger to point out anything on a printed page, instead of the index finger, because the good woman fancied the little finger looked so much more dainty and graceful. To dad's mind the finger bowl affection is on a par with the old maid's little finger stunt. At any rate it is not a hygienic rite.

If people handle their food such a way as to get the fingers soiled, then they ought to go and wash their hands with soap and water after eating.

The time when dad insisted on washing the hands, was just before sitting down to table. A good many kids, with the natural antipathy to soap and water that belongs, like to shirk this little ceremony and often manage to shirk it when parents are careless. Now, this may seem a right to a kid, but it is a dangerous thing to eat without first washing the hands. Painters and other workers who neglect this ceremony often pay dearly for their neglect in developing lead poisoning as a result of their soiled or unwashed hands contaminating the food they eat. Boys who sit down to eat without having first washed their hands are very likely to become infested with worms, the eggs of which, microscopic in size, are present on the soiled fingers. Then, too, there are probably many germ diseases which are acquired thru the contamination of food by soiled fingers. That the common, everyday route of infection in outbreaks of typhoid fever when the source of infection is traced to a food handler such as cook or waiter who has at some time had typhoid and is still a "carrier" of the typhoid bacilli and capable of contaminating any food handled.

Another hygienically warranted table manner that dad has always insisted on is time. A good many kids suffer digestive troubles simply because they do not take time to eat their meals. They are so anxious to get back at play that they try to gulp down their meals, run away from the table in a few minutes. In order to circumvent this breach of good table manners, dad made it a rule at our house that one could leave the table with twenty minutes, whether he required all that time to eat or not. The mere time when the twenty minutes seemed as many weeks to a fast as the next kid. But even if finished in five minutes, I had to sit there and behave until the twenty minutes were over, so you may sure I soon learned to take my time about eating. It is a rule I commend to all parents. I believe it has had much to do with my perfect digestion.

MR. BILLINGS SPENDS HIS DIME

(By DANA BURNETT.)

"What were the numbers?" "Nine and twenty-nine," repeated "Nine and twenty-nine." "And the word?" "Venga," said Mr. Billings.

There was sudden change in his wolf-tone. The wolf came back. Excelsior drew up like a man seen of crowds. He commanded, proud and cruel. He commanded, however, he turned into his manner of cool and easy. He counted out five one thousand-dollar notes.

"Excelsior," said he, "it is impossible to explain to you the business plans in full. If this is a business plan, my advice to you, is to forget it entirely. Permit me to discharge my debt to you."

With the tips of his fingers he counted the $5,000 across the table to Mr. Billings, who gazed for a moment at the paper fortune, then gently shoved it back again.

"It isn't enough," said Mr. Billings. "Not enough?" "It'll cost you $5,000—and 10 cents!" "Ten cents?" "Ten cents?" "Ah, ten cents! Some little superstition I see!"

"That's all I always like to have—a 10-cent piece in my pocket," Excelsior laughed dryly. "Very well, señor. Here is your lucky piece. It should so happen that you had thought of taking a vacation, or if there was some particular place which you would like to visit."

"There is," exclaimed Mr. Billings with sudden inspiration. "I will go. I will go now!"

Shortly thereafter Mr. Billings found himself in the street with $5,000 in his purse, and in his waistcoat pocket, for good luck, a silver dime.

"I will buy a ticket for the Isla de Palma," said Mr. Billings tranquilly.

Ten minutes later he was writing his name upon the chart of the S. S. Isabella, of the Caribbean line, and saying to the clerk who waited on him "An outside cabin. Yes! And read amidships, if you please!"

The next day at high noon the S. S. Isabella, of the Caribbean line, sailed down the narrows, bound for Cuba, Panama, and the Isla de Palma.

Upon her after promenade stood Mr. John Percival Billings of New York—and Brooklyn.

His cabin was on the starboard side, well amidships. It was a double cabin—to be shared by two passengers. Now, as he entered it, Mr. Billings saw various articles of baggage piled against the second berth and wondered who his companion might be.

While he stood with legs braced, brushing his hair before the mirror in the bulkhead, a man opened the door and stepped quickly into the room. He was a commonplace, plain-featured individual—in a douching Panama hat, who looked at Mr. Billings and nodded pleasantly.

"Guess we're in here together," he said. "My name's Brown."

"Mine's Billings," said Mr. Billings. "Glad to meet you, Mr. Billings."

"Pleased to meet you, Mr. Brown. Haven't I seen you before?"

The man named Brown returned Mr. Billings's scrutiny with polite but rather dull blue eyes.

"No, I think not. At least, I don't recall the circumstance."

"Well," said Mr. Billings, "I never forget a face. I know I've seen you before."

Mr. Billings puzzled over it during luncheon and for several hours afterward.

Suddenly Mr. Billings remembered. That night as they were dining in their cabin Mr. Billings told Mr. Brown where he had seen him.

"It was in that little Spanish restaurant on the waterfront. You were just coming out of the door."

Mr. Brown looked at him with mild blue eyes. "Oh, yes, I remember. I had lunch there. I am rather fond of Spanish cooking. By the way, if you are going to Havana there is a certain café that I can recommend."

"I am not going to Havana," said Mr. Billings. "I am going to the Isla de Palma."

"Indeed!" said the other. "So am I. Perhaps we will meet there."

Next day Mr. Billings was quite ill and remained in his berth. Toward nightfall, however, he went on deck to get the air.

As Mr. Billings was passing the door of one of the forward deck cabins a man stepped out of it directly in front of him. Instantly the latter started, seized Mr. Billings by both arms, pulled him into his face and cried: "You!"

Mr. Billings drew back and stared indignantly at the stranger, whom he certainly had never seen before. The man was tall, slender, dark complexioned, with gray hair and a thin, clean-shaven face.

"I'm afraid there's some mistake," protested Mr. Billings.

"Caramba! Yes, there is a grand mistake! Have I paid $5,000 for this, Señor Billings?"

Mr. Billings's jaw dropped. The man was Excelsior.

"Well—Well! You—"

"Yes, I, señor!"

Mr. Billings looked again, hardly believing his eyes. Gone was the black beard, and with it the fierce, wolfish air. No longer did the wolf gleam thru a slit in a mask or the wolf mane stand bristling above the dark brow. The face that revealed itself in the twilight was one of mild and benevolent respectability. Only the voice was the voice was the same as it fell harshly upon Mr. Billings's ear.

"Speak, señor! If I thought that you were a spy—"

"Oh, but that's ridiculous. I couldn't be a spy! I haven't the gift for it."

"Señor, you have an innocence that is colossal! I believe you. But what are you doing here, on this ship?"

"Why," exclaimed Mr. Billings, "I am taking your advice! I am going to the one place that I wanted to go to. I am going to the Isla de Palma."

Excelsior seemed about to explode.

"Señor—in heaven's name why must you choose Isla de Palma?"

"Oh," said Mr. Billings, "I saw a picture of it on a cigar box. I liked it."

"That is colossal! I believe you. But what are you doing here, on this ship?"

"Why," exclaimed Mr. Billings, "I am taking your advice! I am going to the one place that I wanted to go to. I am going to the Isla de Palma."

Excelsior seemed about to explode.

"Señor—in heaven's name why must you choose Isla de Palma?"

"Madre de Dios, señor! On a cigar box!" The distraught Excelsior laid his hand upon Mr. Billings's shoulder. "Come to my cabin in half an hour. I beg of you in the meantime do not say that you have seen me."

Mr. Billings cheerfully consented. "Anything to oblige," said he.

Thirty minutes later Mr. Billings presented himself at the door of the designated cabin. He was admitted by Excelsior. The room was large, and instead of having barbers, was furnished with a comfortable bed and several chairs.

Upon the couch lay a man who every few moments uttered a plaintive groan. He was smooth-shaven but he continually made a gesture with his hand as though stroking a pair of phantom mustaches. As Mr. Billings entered the cabin, this individual stared at him for a moment, then groaned prodigiously.

"El diablo!" he muttered. Mr. Billings regarded him with surprise. "Why, it's Manuel!"

Excelsior smiled easily. "Yes, it is Manuel. He is my servant, señor. But for the present he is occupied with being sick. Will you kindly sit down?"

"First of all, Señor Billings," permitted me to introduce myself. I am Gen. Pablo Blanco. Here he paused and glanced severely around the couch, from which had come a loud groan.

"Unfortunately, however, unfortunately for me, señor—I, as a soldier, offered my sword to former President Hannibal, whom I considered a great and just man. Alas, President Hannibal was defeated and overthrown, was forced to leave the country. I departed at the same time, driven out by the victorious tyrant Juarez, who now occupies the president's palace."

"What was the cause of the revolution?" asked Mr. Billings.

"Ah, señor, it was a woman's ambition."

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

Life in Wellsburg was an entirely different affair from life in Chicago. That Cherry soon found out. The family arose, as the rest of the inhabitants of Wellsburg did, at eight o'clock every morning.

Breakfast was at eight-thirty to the dot. After that excellent meal Ned went off to his office, leaving his wife to her own devices, more or less, for the rest of the day.

After the first few days Cherry found herself at a loss for something to do. Mrs. Randall, as head of the household, took full charge of everything pertaining to it, save the dusting and such small and uninteresting details, which she relegated to Jane. Even the garden was her special "duty."

Cherry longed to be able to run out and dig about, and do as she wanted in the lovely flower beds, but she soon found out that that was considered a crime in her mother-in-law's eyes. She then discovered a quiet little nook, in the woods in back of the house, and every morning after her breakfast she would walk there with a book in her hands and sit and dream and read until the luncheon bell summoned her to the mid-day meal. Here, for an hour, surrounded by the family, she saw her husband again. But it was not a very satisfying sort of seeing, somehow. In fact, as the days went by, she realized that she saw comparatively little of Ned, alone. And this fact ate into her soul.

"Honey-moon Hill" seemed farther away than ever. It was growing misty in her mind, and Ned rarely spoke of those days any more. He was absorbed in his business, and so often at night, when he had finished his dinner, Mrs. Randall would call him into the sitting room and talk over business affairs with him for an hour or so as she mended socks or embroidered a "tidy." Cherry resented these intrusions, inwardly, as there was no ground to do so outwardly, for Mrs. Randall was always so sweet and cool when she came out onto the veranda and discovered her son and daughter lost in each other's eyes and conversation. She would stand with her hands folded in front of her, looking off into space for a few minutes. Then she would ambly over to their end of the veranda and an almost-minded sort of way, until Edward jumped up and asked her to come and sit down with them and rest.

She always had "things to tend to" inside, and it always ended by her carrying off Ned to help her solve some private problem concerning the real estate she owned, and that "wouldn't possibly interest Cherry at all."

At the end of his seance with his mother, Ned would wander out on the veranda again, looking wilted and tired and ready to go to bed, not to sit and thrill at the moon nor even to bill and coo with his wife. The starchy was "clean gone out of him," as he told her.

Sometimes in the afternoon Cherry would drop into the movies or pay calls with her mother-in-law, or again she would drop into the tennis club and play until she was tired, just to take her mind off certain things that bothered her more and more as time went on.

REOLO

BUILDS STRENGTH AND ENERGY

Are You Worn Out and Tired at the End of the Day?

To feel weary without having earned it by hard work throws the mind into disorder and confusion.

Too Weary to be Efficient

A hundred people describing their weary condition would each tell differently. One can't think, another is drowsy, the next feels weak, another is irritable, moody, depressed, apprehensive, and so on. May be, to this great class of sufferers comes Reolo, one of the grandest reconstructive agencies ever devised for definite accomplishment. It intensifies the activity of the vital processes, provokes increased flesh, stimulates the production of red corpuscles, contributes to the defense of the system against depletion and consequent exhaustion and in many other ways arouses the functional processes to make you feel that a flickering vital spark you thought was about to go out. No amount of description can adequately convey the difference between the feeling of lack of nerve power and the rebound and freedom, the liberation from depressions that cause so many men and women to fall in their tracks. It still when the order is to go ahead. If you would really like to get acquainted with your Reolo, get a $1.00 box of Reolo today.

Your druggist can tell you about the wonderful results from Reolo that he has witnessed.

Review of the Movie Plays

Collections From Silver Sheets in Lima Picture Theatres

WHAT'S WORTH WHILE? Lois Weber wants to know. She wrote the inquiring story from which the inquiring picture was made. Her question is something like this:

Is it worth while to cultivate a veneer of civilization if in so doing the man beneath is to be dwarfed?

The answer is, of course, a most emphatic—No!

And to prove this point, Miss Weber introduces you to Miss Morrison, an aristocrat who develops an overwhelming love for a westerner who calls her "Ma'am" and uses his knife instead of a fork or vice versa.

For a long time she fights her love. Then, in a mad moment she lies to and turns to be gently put aside and told the east and west can never meet, or words to that effect. You see, he loves her dearly, but he will do her no wrong.

"Well," Miss Morrison says, "if you really love me, the trifling things that separate us can be learned."

Since he really loves her, he goes to Europe, learns how to wear a dress suit, comes back and marries her. You think that's the end, don't you? It isn't—Miss Weber then provides you with a little surprise by giving her story a most unusual and clever twist. "What's Worth While" is well put on. Claire Windsor, playing the lead, is exquisite to look at, and her work is polished. Mr. Gilmer plays the Commoner to good effect. The supporting cast is excellent.

The Faurot offers this splendid and unusual cinema attraction today and Tuesday.

"EXTRAVAGANCE" HAS A MORAL

HERE'S A picture in which the sunny Miss May Allison and a good supporting cast win your warm appreciation. "Extravagance" is not one of the world-beaters you so often read about but seldom see, but it is an interesting little story, with a good idea behind it. Young husbands, take your young wives to see it; they might learn a thing or two.

As you have probably surmised, the story centers around a young wife who is so brainless and downright foolish that she wants everything she sees, despite the fact that her husband is in very moderate circumstances—very. But Nancy has long ago learned that men can be beguiled into buying almost anything by the display of a few tears. So Nancy does thusly:

"Dicky-bird, does um love 'tite Nancy? Then buy um Nancy pitty 'tite house, or Nancy will cry."

And Dick buys the pitty 'tite house which only costs five thousand or thereabouts, forging a check on his Dad to pay for it. You see, he loved her so much that he couldn't bear to see her cry.

Well, truth will out and when Dick faces a long vacation in the jail, Nancy wakes up, loudly and hysterically, bemoaning the fact that it is all her fault, extravagance, etc., that put them where they were. She becomes a sensible little thing and the final scenes show the couple happily content in a plain apartment, content because they are living within their means. Some story, eh?

If you can stand Miss Allison during the period of babyish wailing, you'll be all for her thruout the rest of the picture. She does get on your nerves like all get-out at the start, however.

There's a wedding scene and a party scene that must have cost a lot of money, and a general atmosphere of extravagance and wealth pervades the whole picture, which, we hereby declared, is a meritorious picture. At the Sigma until Thursday.

THEATRE DIRECTORY

AT THE LYRIC:

"East Lynne" is the feature attraction today at the Lyric theatre. Mabel Ballin and Edward Earle play the leading roles. Also a new comedy and special orchestral selections.

Is Your Back Giving Out?

Is a bad back making you miserable? Are you tortured with a dull, wearing backache, and sharp, stabbing pains. It's time then, you looked to your kidneys. A cold, a strain, or overwork has probably weakened your kidneys and brought on that nagging backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and kidney irregularities. Don't wait for some serious trouble. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Your home folks recommend them. Ask your neighbor!

A Lima Case

Mrs. J. C. Burwell says: "I strained my back by lifting and it became weak. I caught cold and it settled over my kidneys causing a dull pain. Occasionally I had sharp pains that almost took my breath. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and got a box. I used them and they put my back in fine shape."

MAJESTIC

TAYLOR HOLMES

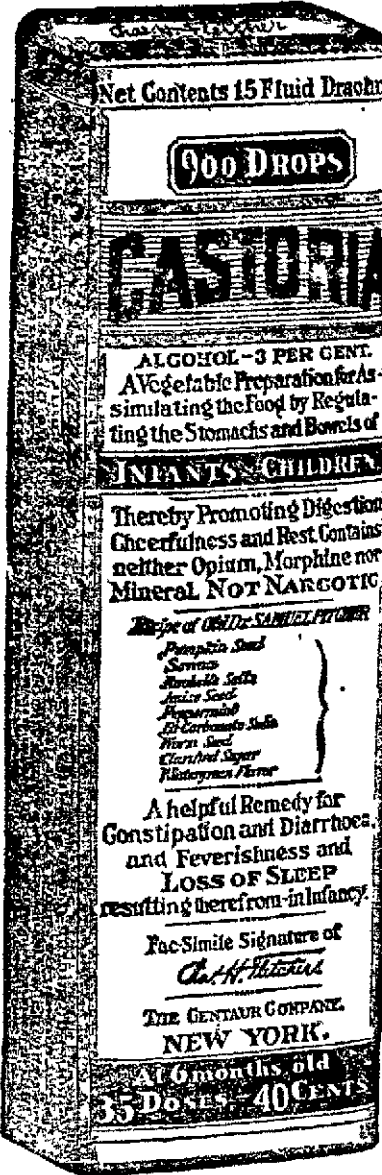

"THE VERY IDEA"

Care and Responsibility.

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared: could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for, the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little-ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrup was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

FILM FLICKERS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray are vacationing in the Grand canyon. Mr. Ray had intended to pay a maiden visit to New York, but both he and his wife have wanted for a long time to see the glories of the G. C. of A., and so the eastern trip has been postponed. Not for several months anyway will Mr. Ray be heard to remark:

"So THIS is N'Yawk!"

It is said that in his coming production "Vanity Fair," Mr. Chaplin gives Edna Purviance opportunity to distinguish herself. As he did with Jackie Coogan in "The Kid."

Gloria Swanson will soon begin work on "The Shulamite" from the play by Edward Knoblock and Claude Askew.

The Glah sisters and May Marsh will return to the direction of D. W. Griffith, who made them what they are today.

George Beban plans to make a feature picture from "The Sign of the Cross" in which as a vaudeville act he has toured the U. S. Miss Helen Jerome Eddy will probably support him.

STORMY SESSION ANTICIPATED

Council Claimed Inclined to Hurry Gas Ordinance Thru

Stormy scenes may be enacted in council Monday night, when the new gas franchise, prepared on recommendation of the city fathers three weeks ago, comes up for its first reading.

As it stands, the proposed contract with the Lima Natural gas is said to contain stipulations that company officials have announced they will not accept.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce gas committee are urging that council go slow and not rush the franchise thru for passage. The third and final reading can be left over for another meeting, they assert and give time for negotiations between the Lima company and the Medina Natural gas producing company, to mature.

There is an undercurrent of feeling among members of council to put the franchise over Monday night and treat with the company later.

Other matters which are to come up will be employment of a clerk at police headquarters and pay of firemen and policemen. It is believed that council will not lower their pay.

A new sidewalk ordinance, to replace the one passed in 1921, will be presented for passage as an emergency measure. The present ordinance contains flaws which prevent enforcement of specifications for walks, approved by the city engineer.

The city is unable to prosecute realty owners who it is claimed are not putting in the right sort of sidewalks.

Council will also entertain a proposal from the Michigan-Ohio Fuel company, regarding erection of a garbage disposal plant. The company wants exclusive right to all garbage in the city, and will erect a plant to turn such refuse into fuel.

Matter of transfer of $12,662.50

form the Ottawa river improvement fund to the sinking fund will be presented

It is desired to make the transfer in order to carry out dredging of the river below the C. & E. bridge. Since first proposed by Chamber of Commerce, some difference of opinion has arisen, but council will have to decide what is to be done.

TOLEDO.—(By Associated Press.) H. C. Dwight, alias Depatie, 22, secretary and treasurer of the Campbell Realty Company, of Detroit, who disappeared from that city two weeks ago following the discovery of a shortage of $45,000 in his accounts, was arrested here late yesterday and returned to Detroit under an indictment charging embezzlement.

A long distance telephone call to his wife in Detroit led to the arrest. "I couldn't bear to be separated from her and the baby," he said. "I would have surrendered Monday anyway."

Dwight first fled to California, it is said, but returned east and arrived in Toledo Saturday night.

TEETH KNOCKED OUT; GETS DIVORCE

CHICAGO.—Second wives have certain rights, according to Judge George F. Rush in Circuit Court.

These rights include the liberty to spend their dowers as they please. The judge indicated he would grant Mrs. Eva Pollack, a second wife, a divorce because her husband took her dowry away.

Mrs. Pollack testified Michael Pollack, the husband, had spent her $1,000 dowry to erect a monument over the grave of his first wife. The fact that he wanted to be buried under the same monument with no space reserved for No. 2 only added to the latter's case, according to the court.

Pollack incidentally knocked out Mrs. Eva's front teeth when she objected to the monument.

TOLEDO PASTOR INJURED WHEN CARS CRASH HERE

Five persons narrowly escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon when an automobile driven by C. G. McKinley, 636 N. Metcalfe-st., was struck by another machine driven by an unknown man at the intersection of Elm and West-sts.

The machine driven by McKinley was carried across the street by the impact. Only by skillful handling on the part of the driver kept it from being overturned. The machine which was said to be responsible for the accident did not stop.

McKinley's automobile was occupied by, besides McKinley, Mrs. McKinley and son, Bobbie, Rev. J. Baumgardner, of Toledo and Miss Paul Baumgardner, who makes her home with the McKinleys here.

Rev. Baumgardner was thrown against the side of the car and cut about the face. It is thought he is also injured internally. The others escaped with only a shaking up.

GUNPOWDER AS STOVE CLEANSER DOES CLEAN JOB

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—An explosion which injured Mrs. Grace Irwin, twenty-eight, lifted the roof off the Summer kitchen, wrecked the kitchen stove and demolished part of the building occurred when Mrs. Irwin threw one-fourth of a young of gunpowder into the stove at her home at Salem, near here, for the purpose of cleaning out a chimney.

Mrs. Irwin was brought to Grant Hospital here for treatment. She was badly burned about her face, arms, hands and upper part of her body.

EXPORT OFFICES ARE LOCATED IN TOLEDO

TOLEDO.—The general offices of the John N. Willis export corporation with E. C. Morse, vice president and general manager in charge was established in Toledo today.

The corporation which has charge of the export of all Overland cars and Republic trucks and which was previously located in New York was brought to Toledo in connection with the reorganization of the Overland company.

"Here, boy," said the man to the boy who was helping him drive a bunch of cattle, "hold this bull a minute, will you?" "No," answered the boy, "I don't mind being a director in this company, but I'm darned if I want to be a stockholder."

A clergyman scheduled to speak in a small country town had gotten slightly off the right road and stopped to ask a little fellow fishing by the side of the road, the way to Martinsville.

He found the church, made his address and on the way back found the same little fellow sitting by the brook.

"Did you find the way?" the little fellow asked.

"Yes, my little man," the clergyman replied, "and if you had come with me instead of fishing there I could have shown you the way to heaven."

"A hard time you'd have," the little fellow replied, "when you didn't even know the way to Martinsville."

"All out. Don't leave anything." This she stuck under the knocker on the front door.

On her return home she found her house ransacked, and all her choicest possessions gone. To the card on the door was added:

Day After Day Prominent Citizens Of This City Give Open Statements Endorsing Dreco in Strongest Terms

Persons Who Once Suffered from Constipation, Gastritis, Nervousness, Weak Kidneys, Sluggish Liver, Headaches, Catarrh and Rheumatism, Openly Declare the Great Herb Remedy Dreco, Has Given Grand Relief.

Seemed the Work Of a Wizard Said This Lima Man

Dreco made big change in his condition, suffered from catarrh, constipation, kidney trouble and stomach disorder.

"I had no appetite and what little I did eat, failed to give me nourishment. My kidneys were deranged and caused awful pains in my back, loins and limbs," said Mr. Philip Archinal who lives at 442 W. Hallor-st, Lima, Ohio.

"I was so nervous that any unusual noise caused me to jump, and I couldn't sleep to do any good, but would turn over and over in bed. I was so badly constipated that I had to take medicine every night, and often had splitting headaches.

"A catarrhal condition kept me hawking and spitting and my stomach was showing the effects of this mucus getting into it. I was advised to try Dreco and felt the good effects almost at once. It is so prompt in its action it almost seems like the work of a wizard."

Mr. Day, the well known Dreco expert, has headquarters at Hunter's Drug Store, 49 Public Square, to meet the local public and explain the merits of this great remedy. See him today.

To Every Sufferer, the advice is given to go to your nearest drug store, get Dreco and begin treatment today.

You can blame no one but yourself if you continue to suffer, after being told over and over again where you may secure almost instant relief from many of the common daily troubles from which thousands in this city suffer. There are many outward symptoms which show up, but when we trace back to where they come from, nine times out of ten we find they come from a disordered stomach, a lazy liver, weak kidneys, or constipated bowels.

Those are the organs which Dreco acts upon directly, and that is why so many people say that Dreco has relieved them of gastritis, nauseated stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, nervous headaches, biliousness, dizzy spells, foul breath, constipation pains in the back, sore muscles, rheumatic joints, catarrh of the head or stomach. Go to the nearest drug store today, delay no longer in starting the Dreco treatment.

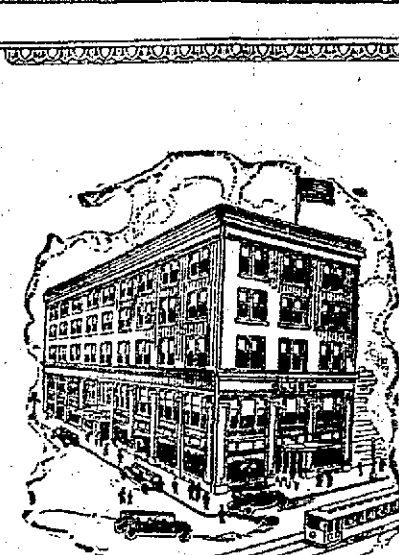

Was Easy to See Great Change in This Lima Man

Been a Long Time Sufferer from Constipation, Stomach and Kidney Trouble, Dreco Gave Relief.

"For a long time I have suffered severely from constipation, kidney and liver troubles I often had intense pains in my back and limbs; was extremely nervous and some nights I could scarcely sleep at all," said Mr. C. F. Protzman of 327 S. Nye-st, Lima, Ohio.

"I had no appetite but simply forced myself to eat, knowing I required nourishment to keep up my strength, but even then my food did not seem to do me much good, and if I were not very careful what I ate I'd have attacks of pain and gas in my stomach afterwards. I frequently had dizzy spells which made everything seem twisted. I took about everything suggested but found no relief till I took Dreco. Since taking Dreco all these ailments have disappeared."

Mr. Day, the well known Dreco expert, has headquarters at Hunter's Drug Store, 49 Public Square, to meet the local public and explain the merits of this great remedy. See him today.
